A good many people, not knowing just how a newspaper is made are very often under the impression that articles brought in late Thursday can be easily handled. Some often wonder why some of the stuff run could not have been omitted from the inside pages too give room for theirs, not knowing that inside pages are printed. We have done our best with the material at hand for that portion of the paper and the four remaining pages are all we have left to cut, crowd and jam things into. It is too late on Thursday to add more pages to the paper. It is impossible to add one page, we have to make it two and at that late date in the week it is an impossibility. We merely wish our friends to know the reason why sometimes their articles are not printed when they come in late; we can't plan ahead for something we know nothing about, but must of necessity keep things moving to get out on time.

The big Aztec bean raised by Jess Howard from seed found in an old Aztec ruin, received much notoriety through the efforts of The Sun a year or so ago and we purchased a supply which was distributed far and wide as they were asked for until the supply was exhausted, the only request was for information as to what results were produced. Up to date we have received no information from them. We would be pleased to hear from any of the persons who planted them. They were twice the size of a lima bean with all the flavor and qualities of a navy bean; a crop that seemed peculiarly adapted to the southwest.

There was pride and regret among the several hundred people at the depot last week as they gathered to see Co. I off for the border; pride in the boys who had promptly answered the call and regret that their numbers were so pitifully few. There is a hope that this condition will be promptly remedied in case the situation along the border assumes the aspect of war and it looks very much as though if there was no open break between us, the bandit warfare will need the services of many more men in a short time.

WERE FOR HIM

A boom has been launched for Tom Maddock for republican state chairman. Mr. Maddock is one of the most active and able workers in the republican party in this state. He is at present secretary of the state committee, working with Judge Joseph H. Kibby.—Tucson Citizen.

COMPLIMENTS THE SUN

F. S. Breen, editor of the breezy Coconino Sun, a resident of Flagstaff, and a member of the Coconino delegation, candidate for national delegate, represents the far northern end of the state. Breen is busy with his political duties on the floor, and in the lobby of the hotel, but he will take time to talk to any man on Flagstaff and the Coconino Sun. He is one of the most firmly established newspapermen in Arizona, and his paper has gained a reputation for its conservative stands in all active political questions.—Tucson Star.

The Chloride Herald is the newest paper to come alive in the prosperous mining country of Mohave county. It is published by Anthony McCauley, an old time newspaper man, who seems to know how to turn out interesting stuff. It is well patronized by the business men of that lively camp.

YES, BUT THEY LACK ASSIN- INITY

Why has not the Arizona Republican written an editorial concerning the Tucson convention? Surely Heard and Speer have as much nerve as Tom Molloy.—Yuma Sun.

The Indian commissioner has decided that Indians of the reservation can be made to pay their taxes on stock the same as a white man. This is some concession anyhow.

It is said that Gov. Hunt promises a general clean-up if he is elected to the governorship again. This would indicate some one was in a bad fix which ever way the cat jumps.

SEDONA NEWS NOTES

The Sedona school will close this evening with an entertainment by the children.

From all indications fishing will be good this year, the high water did not seem to have injured the trout.

There will be a real cowboy dance at the school house tomorrow night. There is no question but it will be well attended, as they all are.

The new bridge at Sedona is now practically completed with the exception of the planking and this will be done so that the bridge may be used within a week.

Fruit will be plentiful in this neighborhood this summer, the trees on the Black ranch are so heavily loaded with peaches, apples and prunes, that it was necessary to pick off great quantities to save the trees from breaking down under the weight. Strawberries are ripening in great quantities now.
